CURB REPORTER

Major Bernard Sharp gave an interesting talk on Our National Defense at the Rotary club on Friday at 1 p. m., at Sunnydale Log Cabin. A nearly perfect attendance of Rotary turned out to hear the major whose studies of the international situation have made him a valuable speaker not only in Tryon but in Asheville, Spartanburg, Belmont, Forest City and other communities where he has addressed civic meetings . . . . A real asset to Tryon and Polk county is Dr. W. P. Jackson, former field secretary of the National Recreation Association who is teaching our people, children and adults, how to play the old games and dances of our forefathers. Last Thursday he directed a group of people in folk dancing at the Parish House and those present were so interested that they immediately formed a club to continue the study of these games and meet every two weeks. . . . Dionysius said, "Let thy speech be better than silence, or be silent." . . . . Editor C. M. Douglas in his Brevard newspaper last week said: "Saw an auto in town last Thursday bearing a plate like this: 'Tryon, N. C.—An Unspoiled Paradise.' I couldn't figure that one out—maybe bragging, maybe something there the rest of us haven't seen. At least give the fellow credit

Wants Tryon Dope

President E. Perry Manville of the Tryon Chamber of Commerce has received a request from Bill Sharpe, news bureau manager of the State Department of Conservation and Development asking for dates and information on the dog show, steeple-chase and horse show events, so that wide publicity could be given local activities. Mr. Manville has already mailed this information which was given out last week by the Riding & Hunt club at their annual meeting.

Underprivileged Mothers

Underprivileged children appeal to our instincts of humanity. Always underprivileged children have underprivileged mothers, if the mothers are living. To serve such mothers at a most critical time, at least six and sometimes seven free generalized health clinics are held each month in this county by the Polk County Unit of the American Women's Hospital with special emphasis on Maternity Welfare and Infant Hygiene. These are held in three centers, one every Tuesday at 2 p. m., at St. Luke's hospital, Tryon; one at the Katherine Beatson House, Mill Spring, at noon the first Thursday of each month, and the third at the Community House, Cooper's Gap, at noon the second Thursday of every month, making six clinics usually except when five Tuesdays occur in a month as in January of this year, when the number goes to seven.—Contributed.
