Tryon "Vinegar Works"

Public opinion is steadily growing in favor of roadside control—is steadily supporting the conviction that nobody has a right to maintain unsightly premises along the roadside, whether in town or out. The roadsides leading into Tryon have been greatly improved in recent months—but the same old "vinegar works" offend the eyes of visitor and tourist almost as soon as they cross the town boundaries. As a town that exists largely by the trade of its visitors and tourists, this is not "good business."—Contributed.
