CURB REPORTER

Leaving Daytona on a chilly morning headed straight south toward Miami we passed through a number of towns along the Indian River section where those delicious oranges and grapefruit grow. We tasted our first Temple oranges and liked them the best of all. Too bad we can't buy them in Tryon. Since we were on our way down we decided to wait until we were on our way up the west coast to bring some home. Had our worst meal at Melbourne. Passing through Vero I wanted to look up Dr. and Mrs. Kola who spend their summers in this section but I was outvoted by the others who wanted to get as near as possible to Miami. At Ft. Pierce we stopped at a filling station for a check up on the auto. I happened to think of an old friend, Dewey Crawford, of Cornelia, Ga., whom I had not seen in 13 years since he moved to Ft. Pierce, so I slipped away from the crowd to telephone him and say hello, etc. You see, there is so much old fashion country in me, and love for people, that when once I like a person, I never forget him and feel the same way toward him always. Dewey, who is a prominent lawyer there, came over to the garage and took us through a large orange packing plant where oranges brought in from the groves are dumped on

Annual Meeting of Social Agencies

At the annual meeting of the Council of Social Agencies held in Missildine's hall Tuesday afternoon the following officers were elected for this year: Chairman, Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, D. D., vice-chairman, Mrs. John Washburn; secretary, Mrs. David L. Edsall; treasurer, Miss May Irene Flentye. Reports were received from the American Women's Hospitals, the Helping Hand, the tuberculosis work of the county Department of Public Health and the County Department of Public Welfare.

Miss Rebecca Hoskins, superintendent of the last named organization, made the following report in detail. During the eighteen months ending December 31, 1938, in the division of Public Assistance under Old Age Assistance, 173 formal applications were made, 134 were acted upon, and 104 are now receiving this assistance. Twenty-three cases have been closed, seven are under investigation, and there are 39 pending action. In addition there have been 150 written applications and officer interviews regarding Old Age Assistance but not formal applications. Under Aid to Dependent Children, the record is as follows: Number of formal applications, 30; number acted upon, 28, involving 106 children; number of cases receiving assistance in 1938, 27, involving 102 children; number of cases closed, 4, involving 24 children; number applications pending action, one, with three children;
