

W. J. Bishop

W. J. Bishop, 81, of Saluda township, Dana, died about 9 o'clock this morning (Friday) following a heart attack while riding in an automobile with his son-in-law, B. H. Arledge, who was driving on Trade street in Tryon headed for Columbus when Mr. Bishop put his hand over his heart and said, "It hurts". When he failed to answer any questions, Mr. Arledge turned the car around and carried him to Sr. Luke's hospital, but the patient was dead before he got there.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Jones' Graveyard near Upward in Henderson county.

The deceased is survived by his widow, the former Miss Ella Jones and eleven children: Eight daughters, Mrs. Emma Halford, Mrs. Belle Steppe, Mrs. Fannie Jones, Mrs. R. B. Williams, Mrs. Henrietta Henderson, Mrs. B. H. Arledge, Miss Pearl Bishop, Mrs. Lillie Hollifield; and three sons, Spurgeon, Atlas and William Bishop.

President E. Perry Manville of the Tryon Chamber of Commerce, has just returned from Raleigh. He reports that the State Department of Conservation and Development plan to send a representative to Tryon to take some pictures of the Horse Show. He also reports that Gerald Stone is doing a good job advertising the show to Asheville people.

Mrs. W. A. Boyd and son, Bill, of Greenville are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kell.

St. Agnes Guild announces that its spring rummage sale will be held at the Parish House on Saturday, May 6th.

Mrs. E. Pue-Williams is in charge of collecting donations of rummage, and persons having articles which they wish to give for the sale are advised to telephone to Mrs. Williams, or to any member of the Guild, and they will be collected.

At this time of the year, with spring cleaning and preparations for departure in many households, many articles not needed by the owners are turned up, which would be very saleable at the Guild sale. The Guild depends on returns from the rummage sale for funds with which to carry on charitable work around Tryon. All kinds of household articles and clothing are desirable, and this is a most worthy cause to which to donate any item that you can spare.—G. S.

Visitors report that they have counted a dozen different wild flowers now in bloom at the famous Pearson's Falls.
