Best Show Yet

Tryon's Horse and Hound Shows really get better and better every year and this 14th big event attracted approximately 5,000 people from all over the nation. Except for the wind the weather was perfect; beautiful spring growth everywhere and not a cloud in the sky. The Hound show was the biggest ever, said Manager C. W. Ballenger, and the Judge Roger Stone of Lexington, Ky., was highly pleased with the whole show. Modest Col. Carter P. Brown, president of the Tryon Riding & Hunt club, said it was just another fine Tryon Horse Show. But he and his various committees have been receiving the praise of the community for another job well done. The Spartanburg Herald and the Asheville Citizen this morning carried complete accounts of the show, giving in detail the winners of the various classes. Both papers also published some attractive pictures, taken by staff photographers and W. Thomas McGrath, of Sheridan, Wyoming.

Lad Injured

Ned Lindsey, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Lindsey of Lynn, who fell from the grandstand at the Horse Show on Wednesday and hit his head against an automobile, was dismissed from St. Luke's hospital today after treatment for a scalp wound.

Pilgrimage Friday To Pearson's Falls

The Garden Club Pilgrimage starts Friday afternoon at 2:30 on the north side of Melrose avenue approaching home of Mrs. Julian Calhoun where Tryon's newest and most formal garden will be viewed, then the motorcade will go for a five mile ride to Pearson's Falls and glen where grows the world's greatest variety of wild flowers. The price of the tour is only $1. It includes entrance to both gardens, transportation over 11 miles of beautiful scenery, refreshments served by Garden club members and if you are public spirited you will see more than just scenery. You will see and feel the spirit of a group of women working nobly, persistently, donating cars, time, money and thought in an effort to buy and preserve this beautiful haven of wild flowers for the benefit of all lovers of nature. Reservations may be made through Mrs. E. Pue-Williams, Mrs. H. C. Metcalf or tickets may be bought at Missildine's Pharmacy.

Fair Greeters Friday

The North Carolina World Fair greeters will meet the Tryon officials on Friday morning at 8:10 near the depot for a 15 minute visit.
