HORSE SHOW INCORPORATED

Samuel Bingham, Jr. says that the modern streamlined train shown at the end of the Union Pacific on Friday at Tryon Theater was built under the direction of William A. Fraser, Jr., a frequent visitor to Tryon several years ago. He is now in charge of "Old 58" taking it across the country under its own power to the New York World's Fair . . . The response of the community to a call for funds with which to help carry on the Boy Scout work in this section has been very gratifying states chairman Nelson Jackson, Jr. of the finance committee. A few more donations of $25 and $50 would enable the county to reach its quota of $1,000. Local people and visitors have been very generous. One man, Aaron W. Davis of New York who is familiar with the work being done by the Piedmont Council sent the local chairman $25 last week. This interest from an outsider is very encouraging to local leaders who are working to bring scouting within reach of every boy in Polk county . . . A trip to White Oak Mountain Friday was very enjoyable. First time I had ever been on the mountain with clouds below coming up over the mountain like smoke rising up a chimney. Now and then the clouds would part in places like a huge curtain disclosing beneath the beautiful patched-quilt landscape in patches
