TRYON, N. C., MONDAY, JULY 24, 1939

CURB REPORTER

Thanks to the Lightner Estate another wheel chair has been added to the wheel chair service of the Tryon Kiwanis club. This makes three chairs to lend to invalids who have been crippled or are recuperating. The first chair was given by Mrs. John Brittan Clark in memory of her mother, Mrs. Woodbridge; the second chair was given by Patricia Pensinger; and now this third chair from the Lightner heirs will add further to the comfort and convenience of the invalids in this section. These chairs are often used only for a week or few months at the time, but they are in constant use and the demand for them now is greater than the number of chairs . . . The J. H. Perkins are at South Dartmouth, Mass. . . . The Lefty Flynns are at Edgartown on Marthas Vineyard Island . . . and farther east on Nantucket island are the Bishop Tourets and where is published the largest newspaper in the world, "The Inquirer and Mirror," nine big columns wide . . . Mrs. Meegan sends greetings from Rome, Italy, says it is "beautiful, magnificent, wonderful" . . . Weather still nice and cool at Tryon. Many Tryonites had to use two blankets Friday night. . . . George Parker won the guessing contest put on by Texaco Service Station last week. There were

Accepts Scout Cabin

At the interesting dedication service at the Piedmont Boy Scout camp on Sunday afternoon at Lake Lanier the Rotary club of Hickory gave the camp a new Scout cabin which it had built in memory of the club's first president, Watt J. Shuford. The impressive acceptance speech was made by Council Vice-President Nelson Jackson, Jr., who knew Mr. Shuford for his great love of boys. Rev. Sam Stroup of Hickory told of Mr. Shuford's service to Scouting, to Rotary and to everything worthwhile in his community and section. Miss Adelaide Shuford, daughter of the deceased, unveiled the tablet. Counselor Timberlake led the audience in the singing of "Onward Boy Scouts" and "America the Beautiful". Rotary Governor J. R. Sandifer of Hendersonville was among the many out of town visitors. Some of the visitors who had not been to camp in several years marvelled at the great progress that has been made.
