Mr. Dobbyn was born at Croton, Ohio, on February 23, 1876. For a number of years he was secretary to James K. Hackett, the famous actor, and later to Levi P. He remained with the Astor family as secretary to Vincent Astor until 14 years ago when he resigned and came to Tryon to live. Mr. Astor, upon learning of Mr. Dobbyn's serious illness, visited him in Tryon about three weeks ago.

Mr. Dobbyn had an interesting career, and made many friends and contacts with noted people all over the world. At one time he was secretary of the Ohio society of New York, and was a member of the Players club of New York. In Tryon, when health permitted, he took an active part in the Drama Fortnightly, the local little theatre.
