Rites Today For Jack Plumley, 18

Funeral services for Jack Plumley, 18, of Landrum, who died on Tuesday night in the Spartanburg General hospital of burns suffered last Saturday at the L. G. Dillard or Fernwood garage at East Spartanburg, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon (Thursday) at the Ebenezer Welcome Baptist church in upper Greenville county by the Rev. Broadus Belue and the Rev. T. E. Reid.

Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be Loyce L. Barton, D. P. Williams, I. E. Brown, Kenneth Dill, John Earle Barnette and Carroll Crain.

Young Plumley suffered second degree burns of the arms and shoulders when he was reported to have struck a match with which to light a cigarette after having his hands immersed in gasoline.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Plumley of Landrum, route 2; five brothers, Claude Plumley, Reid Plumley and Charles Plumley of Landrum, route 2, and J. D. Plumley and Klugh Plumley of Kings Mountain, N. C.; six sisters, Mrs. T. F. Campbell of Catawba, N. C., Mrs. J. H. O'Brien and Miss Wilma Plumley of New York City; Mrs. Alvin Clayton of Greenville, Mrs. J. B. Jackson, Jr., of Spartanburg and Miss Bettie Jo Plumley of Landrum, route 2.

Congress may be called Sept. 15. Extra session expected to be ordered by FDR then, New York Times says.

CURB REPORTER

Europe is always in a war. it seems. Banker Julian Hester has a reproduction of the Ulster County (N. Y.) Gazette, published on Saturday, January 4, 1800, 139 years ago. This issue tells of the death and funeral of George Washington and several accounts of the battles in Europe among the Russians, Austrians, French, Germans, Italians, Swiss, British, Dutch. The Americans at that time in a communication to President John Adams said, "When we reflect upon the uncommon nature, extent, and aspect of the war now raging in Europe; which affects materially our relations with the powers at war, we are of the opinion that it would be neither wise or safe to relax our measures of defence or lessen any of our preparations to repel aggression." Thirty-seven daily newspapers went out of business last year due to consolidations and the breaking up of the powerful Hearst chain. The Tryon Daily Bulletin is stronger than ever thanks to the cooperation of a progressive and appreciative community which is interested in civic development. Their advertisements and subscriptions have kept the paper going and the little paper in turn has helped to boost the community and has had some part indirectly in building this section. The Bulletin was entered as second class mail mat-
