W. T. Hammett Is Named Fiscal Agent Town of Columbus

Federal Judge E. Yates Webb Saturday appointed W. T. Hammett as fiscal agent for the town of Columbus in Polk county. William Pabodie will continue as receiver for the town's water department.

Mr. Hammett, mayor of Columbus 12 years ago, was named as the town's fiscal agent upon request of the town's governing board. The town officials, headed by Mayor John L. Burgess and Attorney E. B. Cloud, requested the court last week to name someone to handle the tax collections.

Mr. Pabodie had been acting as town fiscal agent and receiver for the water department for several months under court orders. The town council protested against his alleged "dictatorial methods," and said that the cost of collecting taxes was too expensive.

He was appointed as fiscal agent and receiver several months ago after creditors had petitioned for the receivership. Both Mr. Hammett and Mr. Pabodie will serve in their new capacities under court orders.—Asheville Citizen.*
