TRYON, N. C., FRIDAY, DEC. 8, 1939

CURB REPORTER

Tryon became a windy city on Thursday night and this morning. It is so unusual that it was the main news item offered the Reporter today The thermometer dropped to 21 at Hendersonville Wednesday night. It is hard to realize that there is such a difference in temperature in places so near. The mountains around Tryon have even had snow on them this year, but the thermal belt was working in the valleys and only rain fell below . . . Santa Claus has been leaving many gifts at the local stores. Just look over the suggestions that appear in the Bulletin from day to day and you will see the wide variety of gifts available here. Give the local merchants a break. They help build the town and make it possible for you to have a job. If they don't have what you want, they can't blame you; but they will appreciate it if you give them a chance to serve you. They have faith in you and search the markets to bring to your convenience good merchandise that will give satisfaction. Their reputation is at stake. You have nothing to lose by trying the home-town first

The British say that they repulsed two German air raids on her northeast coast on Thursday.

Xmas Seal Stamps Now On Sale

George A. Cathey, chairman of the Polk County Christmas Seals campaign states that the stamps are now on sale at Missildine's Pharmacy and at the Blue Ridge Weavers.

The seals are very decorative for letters and packages and they help inspire the spirit that works for better health and human happiness.

The income from the sales of these seals is used to help prevent tuberculosis. "Christmas seals fight tuberculosis." They educate the patients to help themselves, and they give aid to the very needy. They cost so little that everyone can buy a few of them.
