Director of Oral Hygiene Will Address Polk County Teachers Association

Dr. Ernest A. Branch, director of the divisions of Oral Hygiene of North Carolina State Board of Health will address the Polk county Teachers Association at the December meeting which will be held in the Tryon school auditorium on Thursday evening, December 14, at 8 o'clock. Dr. H. C. Whims, county health officer, Miss Irene Clark and Mrs. Maude Edwards, county nurses, will also be on the program.

The Association has for the year's theme the "Evaluation of the Curriculum," and in viewing the school program from many angles, it has been found that the health program should be made more constructive and effective. The purpose of this meeting will be to learn how the school may set up a more worthwhile program and how each school may co-operate with and benefit from the services of the Health Department.

Dr. W. P. Jackson will have charge of the devotional part of the program and lead in the singing of Christmas carols. A brief social meeting in the home economics room will follow the main program.

The officers of the association are: M. B. Caldwell, president; A. A. Atkins, vice-president; Mrs. Alice Hicks Edwards, secretary-treasurer.

The president is urging full attendance at all county meetings. An attendance committee, appointed
