

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

SETH M. VINING, Editor

$1.50 Year In the Carolinas

1c PER COPY (The World's Smallest Daily Newspaper) 1c PER COPY

Vol. 12. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., FRIDAY, DEC. 15, 1939

Basketball Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 the Tryon high boys open up their basketball season at the local gym. The opponents will be the strong North Greenville Academy and the game gives promise of being one of the best of the season. The local team will be one of the fastest and speediest ever to represent Tryon high. Every player is a crack shot and good floor man with plenty of fight. The game will be over by 8:30. Harold Culler, North State Conference official will call the game.

The next game on the local calendar before Christmas brings Stearns school of Columbus to Tryon on next Tuesday night. These games always bring a good crowd.

CURB REPORTER

This may be the last issue of the Tryon Daily Bulletin on its old press. A new, modern press has arrived, and the man to erect it is scheduled to install it today. The old press wasn't built like the "One Hoss Shay", every part so perfect that it ran a hundred years to a day, and then fell to pieces. Our old press has been falling to pieces bit by bit for over 10 years, and we were afraid any moment it would suffer the same

Continued on Page Five

TRYON

The Chamber of Commerce literature on Tryon for several years has been so well worded that only a few changes necessary to bring it up to date have been made by the committee on revision. The Bulletin publishes the following extract from the revised copy believing that it will interest many readers who have never seen the local folder:

Tryon is situated in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, about midway between Asheville, N. C., and Spartanburg, S. C. Its altitude varies from 1,200 to 1,500 feet above sea level, and it is the Southern gateway to the mountains of Western North Carolina.

Noted for its Scenery: The scenery in and around Tryon is beautiful and diversified. On the north and west the mountain ranges rise to an altitude of 3,000 to 3,226 feet, and verdure-clad to their summits. On the south and east are hills, valleys and a gently-rolling country of great beauty and loveliness.

Delightful Climate: The climate is moderate and dry. Considering it year in and year out, it is a most desirable twelve-month climate in which to live. Lying within the influence of the famous Thermal Belt and sheltered on the north and west by high mountains, Tryon is protected from the cold north winds of winter. Open on the south and east to the warm southern breezes, the winters are mild enough for the most delicate people to spend a large part of the day

Continued on Page Three