Rotarians Hear Dist. Rotary Governor

Morton Hull of Holyoke, Mass., past governor of the 199 district Rotary International, was the speaker at the Tryon Rotary club today noon at Sunnydale Log Cabin. Accompanying him were former district governor Lewis D. Bement of Greenfield, Mass., Wm. S. Howe of Greenfield and R. W. Chase of Holyoke.

Governor Hull gave an inspiring Rotary talk on the workings of Rotary International, its interest in every club and members throughout the world, its eagerness that Rotarians participate in meetings by their attendance, their voices in singing and discussions and by their service in works and financial support in promoting worthy community projects. He told of the opportunities in Rotary for a wide fellowship with sincere friends with whom one could enjoy working for the better things of life: music, books, religion, community service and every thing that makes life worth living. "Music," he said, "is one of the most important parts of a Rotary program. It is a universal language." And in concluding Mr. Hull played on the guitar and taught the Tryon club how to sing one of his own songs: "Vive Le Rotary."

Vice president B. G. Henry presided in the absence of President E. Perry Manville, who was absent on account of sickness.
