CURB REPORTER

One nice thing about being in bed for a week you listen to a lot of new radio programs that you haven't heard before. You have your own feelings adequately described and are told of the many things that will cure what ails you. After awhile somebody sings a song to cheer you up or put you to sleep. The bedridden of today are living in luxury compared to those suffering in pre-radio days. The whole world, it seems, comes to your bedside to talk to you and if you get tired of any of them you can put them out without hurting anybody's feelings . . . The Tryon Chamber of Commerce directors have been meeting every two weeks since the new directors were elected. Any member or citizen with suggestions for the benefit of the community should communicate with President K. A. Bowen or write direct to the secretary of the Tryon Chamber of Commerce. The organization is seeking ways of serving the community better . . . Rising temperature predicted for the South today. Danger of floods expected in Pennsylvania . . . Chinese claim victory near Canton . . . Mrs. Eugene Turner of Tryon, who is now with her husband in China, is recuperating from a recent illness . . .

Have You Listed Your 1940 Taxes

Next week is the last week allotted for the listing of 1940 taxes. The new law calls for the listing of all taxes in January instead of April. Tax listers have posted notices of their hours of business in the various precincts of the county. In Tryon Township the tax lister is Jesse Rhodes and he may be found at the old town hall on Maple street.
