Club Members Assessed $10 For Improvements

An interesting meeting of the Tryon Country Club directors was held on Tuesday night at Oak Hall after which Manager E. A. Emmerman served coffee and cakes.

Discussion brought out the value of the Country club to the community as a recreation center and as an attraction to visitors and homebuilders. A Concensus of opinion showed that every business house and resident in the community should support the club for its value in helping build the town. A report was made of the annual meeting held last week at which time the members assessed themselves $10 each to help pay for the visitors lounge, pro work shop and new locker room equipment. It was also voted at the annual meeting to charge an initiation fee of $25 for new members elected after April 1, 1940. The question of requiring hotels and inns to furnish guests with cards was also discussed.
