Tryon Federal Savings & Loan Association chartered on August 16, 1935, with only a few thousand dollars capital stock has had such rapid growth that today its assets are listed at over $250,000. Financial leaders all over the state are congratulating the local organization on its splendid record. The association here is headed by F. P. Bacon, president; W. S. Green, vice-president; M. R. McCown, secretary-treasurer; Julian B. Hester and Walter C. Hill, directors.

The service the local institution has rendered to local home builders has inspired its great growth.

President O. K. LaRoque of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Winston-Salem writes to Secretary-Treasurer M. R. McCown of the Tryon Association as follows:

"Dear Mr. McCown:

"Your association's report for the month ending March 30th has come to my attention. According to the same assets now exceed a quarter of a million dollars, to be exact, $251,650.08. These results prompt me to extend my congratulations on the extent of the service which the association is rendering in your section of the State in developing home ownership and providing for investment and savings accounts. We recall at this time that your charter was issued August 16, 1935, less than five years ago, and in view of the results which have already been accomplished we feel sure that the institution will further expand its service and usefulness."
