Everything Set For Flower Show Friday

"Dogs, horses, flowers and trees are important in the life of Tryon." That's what the Curb Reporter said one day recently. Since that sage observation was made the dogs have had their day, and so have the horses. The trees are with us every day the year round, so comes now the day of the flowers.

It will be Friday, April 26, the day of the Annual Spring Flower Show of the Tryon Garden Club. The place: Episcopal Church Parish House. The time: 3 to 6:30 p.m.

It is a backward season. Flowers have been scared to death to come out for a bloom, but they have done so anyway. If you travel around the South today, you will note that Tryon blooms are better advanced than most places, so the Flower Show General Chairman Mrs. Harkness Smith, is confident that her committeewomen and members of the Garden Club will be prepared with a fine display of blooms and flower arrangements when the show is opened Friday afternoon.

The entire flower show will be encompassed by a garden wall, thus materializing the theme of this year's show—"Over the Garden Wall Lies Peace," just about the one place on earth today where there is peace.

The judges of the various classes, of flower arrangement, etc., have been chosen and have accepted. They are: Mrs. Edward M. Gwathmey of Spartanburg; Mrs. George Rush of Greenwood; Mrs. W. L. G. MacKensie of Spartan-
