War Relief Canning

On the canning front, the pace is being accelerated. Twenty-one bushels of peaches from "Little Orchard" confronted the staff of workers when they arrived at the cannery in Landrum at nine-thirty on Friday last. In addition, there were one and a half bushels of string beans, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill and a bushel of tomatoes, the gift of Mrs. Russell Walcott. This meant a whole day's work and the majority of the women who had planned to remain only for the morning session agreed to return after lunch. Mrs. Harkness Smith sent out an emergency call for additional workers and by 4:30 in the afternoon, 417 cans were packed. This brings the total to 1,041. During this week sixty bushels of peaches will be collected and there will be a need for more workers. If the present staff could be doubled there would be no necessity for anyone's remaining the whole day. The canning project is not confined to any one group. An appeal has been made, through the pages of The Bulletin, to all women in Tryon who are willing to sacrifice their time, to get in touch with Mrs. Harkness Smith. We urge you to do this.

Friday's workers included the Misses Ainslie Anthony, Helen Roberts, Sue Sprague, Bessie Merrill, Mary Ingersoll, Matilda Giles, Helen Stearns, Ann Nash, Amorette Wetmore, Gertrude and Margaret Beck, Virginia Lutz and Jane Merriweather and the Mesdames Allen Jervey, Sr., Allen Jervey, Jr., Rufus Zoegaum, Herbert Beck, Homer Ellertson, Andrew Law, George Canfield, Lawrence Mazzanovich, Bernard Sharp, Shannon Merriweather, Schuyler

Hamilton, "Pete" Mullis, Harman Vanderhoef, George Miller, William Gray, Walter Mize, Hester Daley, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. S. Viner and Mr. and Mrs. Harkness Smith.
