HIGH SPOT of the weekend: Smith and Kate Kennedy's cocktail party Sunday at noon. The party was scheduled to be a small one but by one o'clock there were more than 70 guests crowding the front porch. More than five foreign countries and 25 states were represented.

The party was enhanced by delicious tit bits of tasty food and snatches of melodious song. Eunice Sonner's perky little hat was the cynosure of all eyes.

THE BULLETIN got a break: four subscriptions in the twinkling of an eye.

HELLO TO:

—Gordon Grant, of Boston, Mass., who'll be leaving the day after this is printed. He's visiting his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Green.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stroup, back from Charlotte for the weekend, with nephew, "Bubber" Stroup. The Stroups are among the new subscribers.

—Grover Turner, who's been visiting son, Cleveland, in Norfolk.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hayes, weekend guests of Mrs. Jackson Burnett.

—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brice and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bamberg, who're visiting the Tom McGees at Lake Summit.

GOODBYE TO:

—Gus Graydon, leaving today.
Mrs. Raven Graydon, leaving tomorrow.

—Mrs. Marjorie Noble and daughter, Sayre, leaving tomorrow for Montgomery, down in Alabama.

CURB REPORTER

Well, school is here for Tryon and Lynn youngsters. It is an old thing in many other parts of the County where they have been going to school for many weeks in order to be out for the harvest period . . . September is a grape month in this section and those thoughtful friends who send away gifts of Tryon Grapes are giving a pleasure no one else can give. Around Saluda the aroma and beauty of mountain apples are in evidence as orchardists begin packing and shipping . . . Miss Florence Cox, former Home Demonstration Agent for Polk County shows her interest in Polk County people by renewing her subscription to the local papers. She is now at Winston, N. C. . . . Mrs. Wm. R. (Bertha Lubeck) Jackson renewing subscription to the Bulletin from Burt, Michigan, "I don't know what the Jackson family would do without the Bulletin. It keeps us up with Tryon and the world. After we finish it from cover to cover we pass it along. It has afforded much amazement and pleasure in the neighborhood" . . . The Rev. Charles G. Sewall is having his Bulletin changed from Christmas Cove, Maine, to Williamston, Mass., until the middle of September when he expects to be at his Tryon home in Gillette Woods . . . And Miss Katharine Hamilton who has been enjoying
