LARGEST CROWD AT TRAINING SCHOOL

The Interdenominational Training School for teachers opened Tuesday night at the Baptist church with a large attendance that made it necessary for extra chairs to be brought in during Dr. Sewall's lecture. There was a total enrollment of 158 persons, consisting of 101 adults and 57 high school students. This is an increase of 25 in enrollment over that of the first year of the school, a year ago.

As each lecture is complete in itself, not depending upon what has been given previously it is expected that many who did not attend on Tuesday night will join the group at future meetings.

Food Washed Away; Bridges Down; Tryon Gives Flood Relief

In response to an appeal for food and clothing which appeared in a recent letter to the Charlotte Observer, the Tryon Association for War Relief donated the 218 cans of vegetables which were in excess of their quota of 5,000. Several members of the community who were solicited for aid, generously responded with donations of blankets and clothing. These were delivered to the Crossnore school near Linville, which is managed by the writer of the letter, Dr. Mary Martin Sloop, and her husband, Dr. Sloop. The devastation wrought by floods in that region is appalling and there is an immediate need for more clothing, especially for the mountain children, who must wade waist deep thru swollen streams to reach their schools. Crops have been washed away, leaving bare rocks; canned foods that were stored for winter use have been washed away, roads and bridges demolished.

The Tryon donations were gratefully received and the group who delivered them was assured that the help extended by Tryon in this emergency would not be forgotten.

Cincinnati Reds of the National League and Detroit Tigers of the American League opened the world series in baseball today at Crosley Field in Cincinnati. Over 30,000 fans to see the game.
