Unity Necessary For American Defense

"We have no excuse for complacency. We have no excuse for defeatism. We can come out of this hour of trial both sound and safe, but only provided as citizens we make our wills known to our government, so that as a united nation we may make our solidified will known to the world at large. If we do so, we shall be victorious should war be forced upon us. If we do so promptly, we may hope, thru our evident readiness and resolution, to avoid war altogether."

From Triple-Action Defense, By Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard University.
