Tea De Luxe to Be Served At Guild Christmas Bazaar

A Tea De Luxe—what an Englishman would call a “high tea”—will be served to each and everyone who comes to the Christmas Bazaar of St. Agnes Guild, which will be held in the Tryon Parish House on Tuesday, December 3rd, from 3 to 6:30 p. m.

Sandwiches, cookies, cakes, and as much or as little conversation as you like, will all come as a part of the tea. It will also be a veritable bargain tea, because the price will be included in the price of admission to the Bazaar—a paltry 25 cents.

The tea will be the central attraction of the Bazaar, which this year is raising money for the Tryon branch of British War Relief, in addition to funds for the Guild's regular works of help and charity. Of the proceeds from the Bazaar, 15 percent will go to British War Relief.

The patronesses of the tea will be Mrs. Charles McGavern, Miss Helen Ingalls, Miss Marian Clingan, Miss Sidney Clingan, Mrs. Edward Addis, Mrs. Julian C. Calhoun, Mrs. I. M. Kelly, Miss Genevieve Jackson.

The young misses who will serve the tea will be Margaret Sprague, Hope Schilleter, Elizabeth Anne Vining, Kathleen Andrews, Jane Merriwether and Ann Brundage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawrence have returned from a visit at Duluth, Minnesota.
