November Laying Contests

Records are now in from the Georgia and Florida laying contests for November, which show that a North Carolina breeder is right in there among the leaders.

In the Georgia contest, a pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks from the flock of T. N. Wilcox of Tryon, layed 357 eggs for 368.7 points making a total for October and November of 695 eggs for 700.7 points giving this pen second place. All breeds at Georgia and fifth all breeds. All standard tests, in the United States.

For November pen No. 6 layed 30 eggs for 32.55 points making her high hen all breeds in the contest in November.

This pen of Barred Rocks in the Georgia contest is high barred Rock pen in the U. S. and hen No. 3 is high Barred Rock hen for October and November.

The Florida entry of T. N. Wilcox is leading the Barred Rocks in that contest by a good margin and ranks sixth among the Barred Rocks in the nation.
