panionship in service to humanity. This spirit of Tryon knows no boundary lines. From all parts of the county it goes to help the suffering, to cooperate with the worthy in rehabilitating themselves, to foster their community activities and to lend a helping hand in many ways. This Tryon spirit goes beyond Polk County into the flooded areas of the nation, to the suffering in China, to aid of the war stricken in Finland and England. It knows no boundary lines. This good work and spirit is made possible by the continued interest and support of these friends of Tryon scattered all over the nation. They built St. Luke's hospital, wiped off the indebtedness on Harmon Field, keep the Country Club going, built community houses in the County and hundreds of other things. They built them not for themselves alone to enjoy but for all people of kindred spirit. There are no boundary lines.
