COMMUNITY PLAYERS!

The Community Players need a barn for a little theatre. Monday night the Community Players was organized at the Oak Hall hotel by about thirty enthusiastic persons representing various sections of Polk County. This is the outgrowth of the Drama Institute conducted here the last week in January by Jack Knapp, drama director of the National Recreation Association. A constitution was adopted providing for two classes of membership: active with annual dues of $1, and associate with dues of $2 per year. Charter membership will be open until the annual meeting in April.

The following organization was set up to be in office until the annual meeting, April 28: Chairman, John L. Brown; secretary, Marcus L. Nash; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph C. Erskine. The Executive Committee consisting of the following persons, each one named being in charge of the designated department: Marcus L. Nash, Membership; Miss Elisabeth A. Watson, Play Selection; Mrs. Ralph C. Erskine, Promotion; Mortimer E. Flack, Production; Dr. C. W. McCall, Experimental Production; John L. Brown, Extension.

The next meeting of the Community Players will be Monday night, February 24th, at the Oak Hall Hotel. Regular meetings will be on the fourth Monday night of each month at some designated place. At each meeting plays will be read or rehearsed and admis-
