CURB REPORTER

W. Y. Wilkins stated this morning that he was considering running for councilman in the coming election . . . Here is a plug for a plug: Tryon Country Club is inviting visitors and homefolk to another of those delightful mixed foursome golf tournaments on Wednesday afternoon. The entry fee is only 50 cents and includes tea, which alone costs 35c. The proceeds will go toward paying for the big wooden horse. Public invited. . . Philo Higley, the playwright, son of Mrs. Chas. W. Higley of Gillette Woods, is now writing the script for the Helen Hays Theatre every other Sunday night. He was the author of last night's script of a Bill of Divorcement. His next show will be on Sunday, April 27. He had to spend Easter in Tryon with his mother and so brought along his typewriter and work. . . . Pearson's Falls is lovely now with beautiful flowers coming out. Many visitors are taking advantage of the fire places and are cooking their picnic meals there. . . . The Garden Pilgrimage to Tryon is this week, Thursday and Friday. Places to be visited are the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Calhoun, Dr. and Mrs. George Farrand Taylor, and to Pearson's Falls. This will be a good opportunity for home folk to see these attractive gardens. Visitors will come from all over the country . .
