Former Governor Hoey Delivers Commencement Address Here

The closing exercises of the Tryon high school were held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the school auditorium. The commencement address was delivered by the Hon. Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, former governor of North Carolina. The speaker was introduced by the chairman of the Tryon School Board, Nelson Jackson, Jr. Diplomas were presented by the superintendent Major W. A. Schilleter. Others on the stage were the principal and acting superintendent M. B. Caldwell, D. S. Blois and James Lankford of the School Board and the Rev. George M. Schreyer who gave the invocation.

The valedictory address by Miss Hope Schilleter and the salutatory by John Ralph Moore were examples of the high training and good spirit existing in the school.

Governor Hoey said that only about one-fourth of the high school graduates enter college but that whether they go to college or not there is opportunity for everyone to be what he wants to be. There is a great need to know things in order to accept the challenges of today. The fundamentals of human character have not changed. The same virtues of honesty, courage, etc., are needed today. Education should teach one how to live and how to make a living. One should learn to do things with his hands as well as fill his head with knowledge. He recommended the reading of bio-
