Federation Building New Retail Grocery Store

An attractive addition to the Tryon warehouse of the Farmers Federation is now under construction. It is a part brick veneer retail grocery department with a floor space 34 by 21 feet. It will join the present warehouse at the back. Sometime ago the Federation improved the front of the warehouse property by building an attractive rock wall and leveling the ground. Manager Fred Swann plans further improvements to the warehouse yards along the railroad track and in the back of the building. The Federation has offered its spacious parking lot to out-of-town shoppers during the day, and to anyone attending the movies at night.

DUTCH GARDEN CLOSED BY COURT ORDER

Judge J. Will Pless, Jr., presiding in Rutherford county superior court at Rutherfordton Tuesday signed an order closing Hop's Dutch Garden in Pacolet valley near Tryon.

CURB REPORTER

The weather for Tuesday was 81 high and 62 low . . . This is National Newspaper Week. By coincidence I was the speaker at the Kiwanis club on Tuesday and in my excitement I left the major part of talk at the office and didn't find it out until just before being introduced by the chairman. Fortunately I had on hand a few copies of a variety of newspapers which I passed around for inspection. This caused comment and enabled me to kill the time allotted. One of the papers was the first copy of The Tryon Daily Bulletin printed on January 31, 1928, another was a copy of The Polk County News of October 16, 1895, containing historical data on Tryon and the County. The other papers were from different parts of the country and England. Last week Dr. W. S. Green gave an interesting talk on Polk County of approximately 50 years ago. The copy of The Polk County News had articles on the prominent people of that day. A picture of F. M. Stearns was a feature of the front page, and one of Dr. J. C. Kenworthy, who built the original house now occupied by Melrose Lodge. None of the present buildings on Trade street were built at that time. The Rotary, Kiwanis and civic clubs all over the na-
