TRYON, N. C., TUESDAY, OCT. 7, 1941

CURB REPORTER

This is National Fire Prevention Week and Chief Spurgeon Arledge and members of the Tryon Fire Department have been taking special measures to impress upon the public the necessity of carefulness in dealing with fire. They give such advice as this: Keep matches from children, never smoke in bed, put oily rags in cans, construct chimneys safely, remove old rags, paper and other rubbish, electric wiring should be kept in safe condition, repair defective flues, and a hundred other ways to help prevent fires . . . The weather for Monday, high 91, low 61 . . . New subscribers to the Bulletin include Willy Sassoon who recently arrived in Tryon, a birthday subscription from a friend here goes to Capt. B. B. Settle - Wilson

The congregation of the Tryon Methodist church was pleasantly surprised Sunday, October 5th when at the close of the morning service, the pastor, Rev. George M. Schreyer announced a marriage ceremony was to be performed for Miss Leila Wilson and Mr. James Horton Settle, and extended an invitation to the audience.

Mrs. Walter Jones was at the organ and with the strains of "Here Comes the Bride", the couple entered unattended. The bride wore a dress of navy blue crepe with white accessories. The vows taken at the altar railing backed with fern and autumn flowers, completed the setting for
