

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

5c COPY

(The World's Smallest Daily Newspaper)

5c COPY

SETH M. VINING, EDITOR

$1.50 Year in the Carolinas

Vol. 14. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., MONDAY, NOV. 3, 1941

CURB REPORTER

The rain on Friday night amounted to 2.14 inches and lacked only half an inch making up the October shortage of 2.64. The Saturday night temperature was 78 and low 61, for Sunday it was 70 high and 46 low. Beautiful bright blue days look more like October than November. Hikers, golfers, horseback riders and other out-of-doors people are enjoying every bit of the weather If you want to help raise funds for the British War Relief instead of sharing your surplus plants and other garden flowers donate them to the Exchange committee headed by Mrs. Dudley Smith. They will be sold and the money given to War Relief . . . Miss Hope Rogers had a number of converse college friends up for Sunday . . . Dr. Frederick Bowes and family are now located at the Orrell House at Williamsburg, Va. . . . Lieut. and Mrs. Allen Jervey, Jr., are at Carlisle, Penna. where the doctor is in Field Service school barracks Dr. and Mrs. B. C. von Kahlden report arriving at Sarasota, Fla., and were greeted by W. B. Weigel, who has built a home there overlooking the bay Bishop Frank Hale Touret has renewed his subscription to The Bulletin from Nantuckett, Miss. . . . Mrs. Bruce Pernie who is here for her annual fall visit has three sons

Continued from Page One

Functions Of Civilian Defense Program

Civilian Defense has two tasks:

- 1) The first is to prepare for the day we pray may never come: actual war, when men, women, and children must stand prepared to defend their homes and liberty.
- 2) To better the health, economic security, and well being of our people, to make our country strong.

Functions of Local Defense Councils:

The primary purpose of all councils is to deal with and through the regular established governmental and private agencies and to assist them in expediting and coordinating all phases of their work which relate directly, or indirectly, to the defense program. Each council will serve in an advisory capacity, provide a clearing house for exchange of information, seeking to avoid any duplication of effort or confusion of programs. The council will seek not to administer or execute, but to help get a job done properly and quickly. The council will try to keep the public informed of its programs and purposes and solicit and encourage widespread public support for the many phases of civilian defense.

The work of the Defense Council's, on all levels of government will be greatly diversified and will change from time to time with changing National and international conditions. In general, they will fall into three groups, as follows:

- (a) Promoting and providing for constructive civilian partici-

Continued on Back Page