R. Burton Williams

R. Burton Williams, 59, Polk County Forest Warden, died suddenly Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. Williams arose early Sunday and was preparing a fire in the home when he was stricken. He was rushed to St. Luke's hospital where he died shortly after his arrival.

Mr. Williams was for many years Polk County Game and Forest Warden. He resigned the position of Game Warden last year to take up the duties of Fire Warden which he has given his undivided time to. Mr. Williams was well known here and in the surrounding counties of Polk, having been instrumental in the duties of protecting the game and forests of Polk County.

He was a son of the late John Williams and Nancy Constance Williams, pioneer residents of the county.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Mamie Bishop; one son, Burton Ray Williams of the U. S. Navy, stationed at an Hawaiian port; five daughters, Miss Carrie Williams of Columbus, Ga.; Mrs. Verlin Reese of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Miss Rosa Lee Williams of Taylors, S. C.; Miss Nellie Faye Williams of Mill Spring; Mrs. Clyde Smith of Mill Spring; two brothers, John N. and Will W. Williams, both of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. John Foster of Columbus and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Columbus Baptist church with Dr.

CURB REPORTER

Almost summer weather prevailed during the weekend mid-days. Weatherman Creasman reports for Saturday a high of 73 and low of 29 for Sunday, high 72; low 34 . . . Reading Spartanburg Herald we read the following about one of our advertisers: "Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock The Blue Door will receive in honor of Elizabeth O'Neill Verner of Charleston, artist, etcher and author . . . in fact Mrs. Verner's latest volume is just from the press . . . "Mellowed By Time" a delightful and intimate sketch of her Charleston she has so truthfully and so beautifully depicted with stylus, brush and now with pen . . . in two volumes, 'Prints and Impressions of Charleston' and 'Mellowed By Time' she gives in permanent form the story she so intimately knows. . . . filling in, as it were, the background for her art with her new medium in which her ability is just as marked . . . her keen appreciation of character, her sense of humor catch nuances too deep for the ordinary observer . . . all this gives breadth and depth to her work . . . one might say a new dimension not possible to the artist or author but here created by the artist and author." . . . On Saturday the U. S. Senate confirmed the nomination of William
