CURB REPORTER

A committee of the Tryon Chamber of Commerce is at work on a Pck County folder which will set forth the attractions of the County to new comers. The Tryon committee believes that by helping Mill Spring, Green Creek, Columbus, Saluda and Cooper's Gap to grow, the County as a whole will benefit in many ways. More new people progressive enough to make their own way will mean more prosperity for all, better churches, better schools, more people and means with which to accomplish anything worthwhile anywhere in the County . . . In less than three weeks the college young people and others will be home for Christmas vacations. The town is getting decorated and lighted with coloured lights for the events ahead It is time to publish a schedule of dates, parties, dances, ets. Please send yours in to The Bulletin as soon as possible Donations are coming in for the Negro Christmas tree program to be conducted this year by Mrs. M. B. Flynn. C. J. Lynch is general chairman. Donations may be sent to The Bulletin if more convenient Town of Tryon is rebuilding the end of Trade street near Supreme Service Station where the ravine was filled last summer with dirt

MUSICAL MEETING AT LANIER CLUB

The Lanier Club had a real musical treat at its Thursday meeting, when Mrs. Edwin Beach and a group of young musicians from the Civic Opera Company of Spartanburg, gave a most enjoyable program at the library.

Mrs. Beach opened the program with the Viennese Waltz by Friedman Gentner, which was played in her characteristic spirited and finished manner. Miss Alene Broyhill followed with two songs widely different in their demands upon the singer. The first, Voc di donna o' D' Angelo by Ponchielli was delightfully sung, but the second, the dramatic Cry of Rachel by Selter was given with a moving sincerity rarely heard in so youthful a voice. Miss Mary Loretta Farmer played the first movement of the Eroica Symphony by McDowell. Her playing was distinguished by unusual strength and clarity of tone. Mr. Robert Warren also chose songs of widely different appeal, the old favorite On Wings of Song by Mendelssohn and the humorous Negro interpretation of Winter's Approach. Both were delightfully sung. Mrs. Beach gave as her closing numbers the Nocturne in F Major by Chopin and Ponchinelli by Rachmaninoff, both of which served to prove still further her skill as an accomplished pianist.

Mrs. Dexter for the Lanier club expressed the appreciation of the audience for the delightful program given by these talented young people. Those who heard them
