New York, Dec. 29, 1941.
Harmon Vanderhoef, Jr., Chm.
Tryon Comm.-B. W. R. S.
Tryon, N. C.

Dear Mr. Vanderhoef:

As the year draws to a close, we can take stock of our accomplishments to date and re-dedicate ourselves for future service. Thanks to your help and that of your colleagues and of our friends who represent the British War Relief Society throughout the country, I believe that we are entitled to feel reasonably satisfied with what we have achieved.

Both you and we, however, derive even greater satisfaction from the knowledge that the help which we have sent to the other side has not only been greatly appreciated by the men, women and children of Britain, but that it had a wonderfully tonic effect on the morale of those who have stood and continue to stand in one of the outer ramparts of liberty. It is patent, moreover, that the need for such help still continues.

The President's Committee on war relief agencies believes that the activities of a Society such as ours constitute a valuable contribution to the Common Cause and SHOULD CONTINUE. As Mr. Churchill stated in his recent talk before the members of Congress, it may be a long war and a hard war, but we who are rendering succor to an Ally who is holding the bastion in what is likely to be the decisive theatre of the conflict, may justifiably feel that we are making a direct contribution towards a complete and final victory.

Will you please accept for yourself and convey to all your associates the sincere thanks of all of us at Headquarters for your loyal and most helpful cooperation.

With personal regards in which my colleagues join, I am

Yours sincerely,

Robert R. Appleby,
Vice-President.
