CURB REPORTER

This is the warmest spring day we have had in a long time. The sun is really hot. . . . James Egerton of Egerton's store at Mill Spring is receiving contributions for the President's Birthday Celebration. Four contributions came in this morning from Illinois. That makes four states giving to the Infantile Paralysis cause through the special edition of the Bulletin . . . . . An editorial in the Charlotte Observer the other day stated that in Charlotte there would be no high pressure soliciting for funds for the Infantile Paralysis, but that the public through loyalty to the President and interest in suffering humanity, would volunteer enough donations. If a large number of people give to the cause it will be an inspiration to the President. That is why contributions are accepted as low as ten cents. The names of all Polk donors will be published in the Bulletin not as a means of raising money, because all the money will be raised before the edition is printed. But every name printed will add just that much spiritual support to the President. It would be easier to ask 150 people for $1 each than to try to raise the amount in small contributions . . . . . Visit the office of Civilian Defense chairman C. J. Lynch and you will be surprised at the number of

Brown and Wilson Attend Meeting At Gastonia

John L. Brown, Scoutmaster of Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America of Columbus and J. A. Wilson, County Agent, and a member of the troop committee, attended the training school in Scout Emergency Service held at the headquarters of the Piedmont Council, Boy Scouts of America at Gastonia last Saturday afternoon and Saturday night. The course was directed by William E. Lawrence, Assistant National Director of the Health and Safety Service of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The program featured not only the health education program of Scouting but the training of Scouts for service in time of disaster or war. Scout leaders of seven of the eleven counties of the Piedmont Council were in attendance.

Miss Garrison Loses Leg But Is Much Better

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Columbus, Mrs. Ella Fowles of Tryon motored to Rock Hill, S. C., on Sunday to see Miss Minnie Lee Garrison at a hospital there. They found her much better after an operation which amputated her right leg above the knee to prevent blood poisoning. Miss Garrison was cheerful and expressed her appreciation of the many kindnesses from friends all over Polk County. Doctors and the family are now hopeful of her recovery.
