J. F. Peeler Dies

John Floyd Peeler, 39, Tryon jeweler for the past 12 years, died suddenly Friday evening about 6:45 while working at his desk. Walter Honeman, a customer, was talking to Mr. Peeler, when the heart attack came. Mr. Honeman said he uttered no sound as he fainted into his arms.

Mr. Peeler was crippled by infantile paralysis years ago, but he made many friends in this section by the spirit in which he carried on despite physical handicaps.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock (war time) at the Tryon Methodist church. The Rev. L. R. Akers, Jr., a former pastor, will officiate.

The deceased is survived by his widow and one son, John Floyd, Jr.; his mother, Mrs. Nannie Peeler of Landrum; one sister, Miss Annie Belle Peeler, of Landrum; four brothers, Howard and Traynham of Landrum; Odell of Asheville on Oteen road, and Homer of Whitfield, N. H.

Mr. Peeler was born and reared in the Landrum community.

Mental Hygiene Subject For P.-T. A. On Monday

The Members of the Tryon Parent-Teachers association will hear an interesting talk on Mental Hygiene on Monday afternoon at 3:30 at the Tryon school. Supt. M. B. Caldwell, who has specialized in psychology, will be the chief speaker. The public is invited to hear him. A social period will follow the program. The hostesses will be Mrs. Marcus Nash, Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Mrs. David Todd and Mrs. Edward R. Gcoyear.
