Horse Clinic Here Is Completed

The first county wide Horse and Mule clinic has just been completed. The Extension Service with the assistance of Samuel Williams, Extension Animal Husbandry Specialist, and Dr. W. L. Stallings, Veterinarian, conducted these clinics in 13 communities distributed through out the county. One hundred and thirty seven horses and mules were examined free of charge. Of this group 91 were treated for parasites or dental deficiencies at a clinic rate the farmers could afford to pay. Farmers were well pleased with the clinic and have asked that it be made an annual event. The arrangement for next year's clinic has already been made.
