Plant Wild Cherry for Birds

Many complaints have come in from gardeners who have fruit crops. The birds seem to forget all about garden pests when raspberries and cherries begin to ripen.

There are several things to do. Pieces of white cloth hanging in the tree are effective for some birds; small mirrors or bright pieces of tin will help. But another way is to feed other fruits. Catbirds and robins are the greatest fruit eaters; both are very fond of seedless raisins, which are more satisfying than the fresh fruit. Try them. Best of all, plant some wild cherry around your garden. Birds love them; and the tree is a graceful one and quick growing. The wood is valuable for timber. Who knows but the fruit would improve the birds songs? We have all taken wild cherry lozenges for throat troubles. "Live and let live."—E.G.C.

Bill Extends Low Interest Rate On Land Bank Loans

President Roosevelt has signed a bill extending for two years the reduced interest rates on Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans, G. C. Thompson, president of the Columbus National Farm Loan association, announced this week. Mr. Thompson stated that this would mean a considerable saving in interest charges to borrowers in Polk County.

The Columbus association is a member of a group of four associations maintaining a joint office at Rutherfordton, serving
