

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest Daily Newspaper, Seth M. Vining, Editor.

Vol. 15. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., TUESDAY, JULY 28, 1942

THE THERMAL BELT

The United States Department of Commerce, Weather Bureau has just issued a climatological data bulletin on North Carolina with the following information of interest:

"The average annual temperature may vary as much as 20 degrees F. in different parts of the State. Valleys, cross chains, and sharp differences in elevation are largely responsible for significant temperature variations. An outstanding characteristic in western North Carolina is the thermal belts, which are probably more pronounced here than at any other place in the eastern United States. Frequent observations have shown temperature inversions of 20 deg. or more along some mountainsides."

Otis B. Price, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Southern Railway, Asheville died Monday of an heart attack. Mr. Price was an enthusiastic railroad booster and civic builder. He was always glad to help build any community in Western North Carolina. He had made many trips to Tryon and cooperated with local leaders in every way possible. He was inter-club chairman of the Asheville Rotary club and had made many friends throughout this section.

Policeman Joins Navy

Patrolman Quinton Arledge left this morning for Norfolk, Va., where he has been accepted in the Navy. Mr. Arledge enlisted through the Spartanburg recruiting office and was notified Saturday that he was accepted.

CURB REPORTER

Weather Monday: High 86; low 69; rain .24 . . . . Louie W. Harrison is now on convoy duty and his Polk County News is being sent to his wife at Miami, Fla. . . . . Tryon's USO recreation center over Missildine's has been undergoing rapid changes since the college girls went to work cleaning the place up. They haven't been just supervising it. They have done the work themselves and the response of the public to their patriotic spirit has stimulated to even greater effort. Donations of money, tables, chairs and other equipment for the comfort of soldiers have been amazing. When they put the house in order and checked and double checked the public will be acquainted as to further needs. Visit the quarters yourself and you might be inspired to see some need . . . . Tryon's Lake Lanier, Country club's golf course, tennis courts, swimming pool, furnish adequate outdoor recreation for soldiers or any other visitor. Large numbers for picnics, games, etc., can find additional entertainment quarters at Harmon Field. . . .

Tryon Boys' club leave today for an overnight hike to the Town's Water Reservoir in the mountains.

Extra copies of the Bulletin on sale at the office 5c each.