Many Ratings Still Available In Navy

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 13.—Many ratings still remain open in the general service of the Naval Reserve for skilled tradesmen F. M. Furr, Chief Petty Officer in charge, of the Charlotte Navy Recruiting Station announced today.

This branch of the Navy does not cover the "Seabee", construction workers, and is for general assignment Chief Furr said. There is a need for bakers, carpenters, electricians, hospital corpsmen, machinist workers, painters, radiomen, cooks and many others. Men who are skilled in the above trades can enlist with petty officer ratings and serve their country at the same time.

Those applying for ratings must have three letters of reference covering their line of work and pass the preliminary examinations given at the Charlotte station. Men between the ages of 21 and 50 are eligible for these openings and those married must have their wife's consent.

ON ACCREDITED LIST

A letter has just been received by Dr W. E. Sawyer, County Superintendent of Schools that the Mill Spring school has met all the requirements for accreditation and has been placed upon the accredited list in Group 11, Class B. This is the highest rating that a school having an eight month term can receive. The letter containing this information was from Dr. J. Henry Highsmith, Director Division of Instructional Service, Raleigh.
