Weather on Thursday: high 77, low 50. . . . Rev. C. W. Dennis of Asheville is the new pastor of the Mill Spring Methodist church. He has a wife and a daughter, Martha, age five. He was educated at High Point college and the University of North Carolina. Mr. Dennis is very much interested in young people's work. . . . Pvt. Leroy Green's address is Co. C. First Bn. AFSTC, 34380887, Fort Knox Ky. . . . New subscriptions to the Bulletin go to Rev. W. T. Tate of Pacolet Mills, S C., and to Pvt. John R. Vollmer, 310 Tech Sch. Sqdn, Flight D, Keesler Field, Miss. . . . Polk County is to be congratulated on the wonderful response being made in the purchase of War Bonds. Chairman Julian B. Hester who is also chairman of the Draft Board naturally feels grateful to the public for rallying to the call of the government. This is everybody's war and each 25 cent stamp bought will help win it. Read the statement about the War Bond sales in the Tryon Bank ad in this issue of the Bulletin and see the remarkable strides made. It doesn't tell all. The women at Red Cross rooms making clothes, writing letters of cheer, sending gifts, rationing board, blackouts, nutrition, nursing, first aid and the numerous other branches of civilian defense show that the county wants VICTORY.
