

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest Daily Newspaper, Seth M. Vining, Editor.

Vol. 15. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPT. 4, 1942

CURB REPORTER

Weather Thursday: High 85, low 58 . . . Marion Smith is now a corporal at Hawthorne, Calif. Polk county soldiers are making good in the service of their country. Polk is probably represented by more officers and first class soldiers in proportion to population than any other section of the country. We have a brigadier general, colonel, three majors, two captains, a dozen lieutenants, two dozen sergeants, an equal number of corporals and it only takes a little time to make them everyone at least a first class private. In the navy and marines the captains, commanders, lieutenants, ensigns and petty officers are also doing great work for a mountain country . . . Bill McFarland and W. D. Hines, Jr., have arrived from Wilmington for a few days' visit. They have merit badges of achievement given them for helping to build ships at great speed. The title of the metal badge reads: "Ships for Victory". . . . Now with our men making progress on the fighting fronts and others building ships and equipment to do the fighting it is up to us to buy bonds and donate our scrap metal and grease fats. Have you picked up that old piece of scrap iron and dumped it on the pile opposite the Chevrolet place? It will help, so will strain-

Continued on Page Two

HOME FROM CHINA

Miss Bertha Smith, sister of Claud O. Smith of the Tryon Motor Co., and a Baptist missionary to China for the past 25 years, arrived in America last week on the Grisholm with Ambassador Grew and the other Americans who were exchanged for Japanese nationals in this country. This was Miss Smith's first visit to America in 3 years. She arrived at her home in Cowpens, S. C., this week, and in a long-distance telephone conversation with her brother at Tryon, she said that Cowpens looked mighty good to her.

ANNUAL HINES REUNION

The annual Hines reunion will be held at Green River church near Green's Creek the first Sunday in September. The reunion was held there last year, and most of those attending seemed to feel that the location was convenient for most of those concerned. We hope the day—next Sunday—will be remembered by all Hines friends and kin, and are looking forward to a fine day.

OPEN MONDAY

Although Monday, Labor Day, is a National Holiday, Postmaster George D. Cooksey, states that the Tryon Post Office will be open Monday morning from 8 to 12 for regular business. The Tryon office starts closing on Saturday afternoons this week, and to be closed from Saturday noon to Tuesday morning was too long.