AN APPRECIATION

Too little—too late, often appears in human work-a-day relationships just as much as in the great crises in world affairs.

All of us who have the priviledge of working not only for the Red Cross, but under the leadership of Mrs. Sharp surely realize the magnitude of the job she so unselfishly undertook.

Now that Mrs. Sharp is about to take a short vacation, we all realize how quickly the months have slipped by under a leadership which has held us together with tact and unflagging optimism.

To welcome all suggestions and make wise decisions without discriminations, requires consummate tact, as well as firmness. A combination difficult for anyone to achieve—but she has done it.

The last person in the world to desire the above expression is a lady herself, who modestly, and with matchless diplomacy "carries on" for us all as Head of the Women's Auxiliary of the Red Cross.—Contributed.

why I haven't printed the announcement of that engagement.
Nearly everybody in towns knows it by now, but the young lady says there's nothing for the press.
So until we get official confirmation of the report, it may not be so. A friend of Colonel
