How Many Hours Have You?

There are several women in Tryon, nameless upon request, who give more than 500 hours of Red Cross service to their credit.

Of course, we can't all give that much time. I can't. Neither can Mrs. Everywoman with three children and the family washing. But you and I can give two hours a week if we're good managers. And who isn't, these days!

The Red Cross rooms are open Monday through Friday from 9 to 1 in the mornings, for sewing and for surgical dressings; Tuesday evenings for surgical dressings, Wednesday afternoons for sewing.

I know that we do our dusting and mopping and marketing in the morning. We always have. All the same, once a week we could market and then Red Cross. The children are at school and our husbands won't object to a can of beans for lunch in a good cause. Attack the dust in the afternoon—or skip it until tomorrow. Somehow, a little dirt on the floor seems unimportant right now.

Once a week, for the duration, let's ignore the household dirt and make Red Cross "What Every Woman Knows."—Contributed.
