CURB REPORTER

Weather Monday: High 47; low 19 Monday's Charlotte Observer had a picture of Priestly Conyers, III, and five other members of the Davidson college debating team. Priestly spent most of his boyhood in Tryon and became an Eagle Scout of Tryon troop No. 1. The debating team will make extended trips during the spring holidays After a cold spell today is turning into a nice spring day Eva Holmes wants a card of thanks published to let the people know how much the local committee as well as the 37 Negro soldiers from Camp Croft appreciate the donations of money and cigarettes for their entertainment on Sunday. Every soldier received a package of cigarettes. Tryon's Negro citizens are among the best in the country and take an active part in civic affairs. . . . Money is needed to operate the Ration Board and other Civilian Defense expenses. The government pays for clerical help, but the committee men receive no salary and there is a lot of expense incurred in getting office supplies, books, fuel, etc. If you can spare a dime to help win the war on the home front to make it easier for the boys at the front, send your contribution to C. J. Lynch, chairman of OCD or H. B. Vanderhoef, chairman, of the
