ON THE NEWS

To Senator McCarran.

Methinks I remember an adage
of old:

Your speech is but silver, your silence pure gold.

The Early Bird.

(December 7, 1941).

Once some little yellow birds,
Flitting through the skies,
Spide a fat and juicy worm,
And pounced upon their prize.

"They didn't get me," said the worm,

"But, boy! the fellows made me
squirm!"

Old Rhyme.

Pierre La Bludgeon, he was a wild man—

To whip his children he began,
And when he whipped them, he made them dance

To England and Africa, far from France.

At Toulon

(The last stanza was based upon the broadcast by John W. Vander-cook, N. B. C., November 27th.)

Was it despair that seized those lordly ships?

And were they hurled to everlasting shame

Because a nation, lured by lying lips,

Betrayed its honor and its ancient name?

Or, going "down in glory like the sun,"

Did those proud vessels thunder forth their scorn?

Was it France defiant of the Hun—

"France who had not died, yet was reborn?"

—Margery Strong.
