SCHOOL BUSES SAVING GASOLINE AND TIRES

Supt. M. B. Caldwell of the Tryon school district, reports that the Tryon school bus has cut its mileage by miles thus shortening the distance the bus has to travel. And instead of making 30 stops the bus now makes 18. The traveling distance has been reduced over 12 per cent. The fewer stops will also save gasoline. Some of the local children are walking as much as 1½ miles to meet the bus, but the patrons of the school realize that a war is on and are glad to cooperate in every way possible to help win it, said Supt. Caldwell.
