

Point Free—IF . .

Since it is now hog-killing time over most of the south, OPA has again repeated the regulations under which a farmer may use the meat which he owns, after it is slaughtered, without exchanging rationing points.

Meat produced by a farmer who lives on his farm can, of course, be consumed by members of his household, point free.

If a person who operates a farm but does not live on it, may still receive the meat for consumption by his household point free if:

1. He supervised the raising of that meat by visiting the farm at least one-third of the days the animals were being raised, or

2. He purchased the animal at least 60 days before slaughter and visited the farm at least one-third of the days during this period to supervise the raising of the animal.

Old or new copies of The Tryon Daily Bulletin for sale at 5c each.

SALUDA NEWS

A fire that caused the destruction of a large part of the stock of groceries, etc., as well as counters and the cash register, of Johnny Gordon's store, occurred on Sunday night. Night Policeman A. H. Hipp, discovered the fire at 1:30 o'clock and called the fire department. The smoke was so dense that it was difficult to ascertain where the fire started. It was quickly extinguished with comparatively small damage to the store building. A part of the floor was burned and the ceiling badly scorched but no damage was done to the second story and contents. Water and smoke ruined much of the stock on which a small insurance was carried. The building belongs to the Sonner estate, Mr. Gordon has occupied it only a short time, succeeding Q. C. Sonner & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arthur and sons, Dick and Donnie, of Charlotte, visited relatives in Saluda last week.

MILK

Helps to balance the diet. Every child should learn the joy of drinking it as well as getting the benefits of its body-building qualities.

Kalmia Dairy

TRYON,

TELEPHONE 449

NORTH CAROLINA