

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper, Seth M. Vining, Editor.

Vol. 17. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., WED., JUNE 28TH, 1944

CURB REPORTER

Weather Tuesday: High 92, low 68 . . . Harold E. Pittman has arrived safely overseas in England . . . Tryon First Baptist church picnic this evening at 6 o'clock at Harmon Field . . . Official notice received Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. W. Martin Walker of Mill Spring that their son, Pvt. Charlie R. Walker, who was wounded on April 28th at Anzio Beachhead, Italy, had been awarded the Purple Heart on June 19th. He is still in a hospital in Italy. . . . The Treasury Department writes us, "We all know that consistent newspaper advertising is necessary to sell any product; whether it be War Bonds or washing machines. Next to our military operations the War Bond program is the most vital part of this effort. We must back up our boys with all the fighting equipment they need, and it takes lots of money. The public relations value of War Bonds advertising is recognized by leading merchants throughout the nation." . . . Lieut. James H. (Jack) Melton of the Army Air Corps, is home on leave . . . The Allies making progress on all fronts. Radio report this morning states that several Vichy French officials have been killed by patriots . . . Dr. Joseph C. Placak, Jr., lieutenant, U. S. Navy, who has been in the South Pacific, is now in Washing-

Continued on Back Page

INGRAM—JACKSON

In an impressive double ring ceremony at the First Baptist church in Landrum, S. C., Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, Miss Grace Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Jackson of Landrum became the bride of Lieut. Charles H. Ingram, of the U. S. Army Air Force.

The church was attractively decorated in green and white with bamboo, white gladiolas, asparagus fern, and Queen Ann's lace. Lighted white tapers decorated the Baptistery, the choir rail and the crest of the arch of the garden gate which was flanked at the sides by a waist high white fence and rows of fern, white gladiolas and Queen Ann's lace.

The ceremony was performed under the lighted arch with the Rev. James B. Neil, pastor, officiating. The bridegroom's father, Mr. Charles J. Ingram, was the best man.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Cpl. Fred S. Jackson, Jr., of the U. S. Army, who gave her in marriage. The bride wore a beautiful white slipper satin dress with full train. Her veil was caught at the top with a tiara, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was Miss Aliher Ingram, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a pale blue chiffon dress, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations showered with rosebuds.

The bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Anne Mintz of Spartanburg, and

Continued on Back Page