

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 28, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE POSTAL REGULATION ACT OF MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper, Seth M. Vining, Editor.

Vol. 17. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., TUESDAY, OCT. 10, 1944

CURB REPORTER

Weather Monday: High 72, low 54 . . . The St. Louis National League Cardinals are the new world champions in baseball. They defeated the St. Louis Browns of the American League in the final game of the series Monday 3-1. It was one of the closest and most interesting world series ever played and the first time the St. Louis American's team had ever played in a world series. . . . Pvt. George Lott, Jr., world famous tennis star who has played on the Rogers' tennis court and the Tryon Country club court along with Bill Tilden, Lieut. Col. Wilmer Allison and Dick Covington, is playing with Allison today at Grove Park Inn courts. All the men have played on the Tryon Country club courts . . . Churchill is visiting Joe Stalin in Moscow. Americans pushing Germans back around Aachen. Canadians making progress, too. Russians gain 19 miles in Hungary . . . Tryon High School lost to Christ School in football Friday by three touchdowns to one. The local team, short of reserves put up an excellent fight against their larger and more numerous opponents. The score was 6-0 at the half . . . Thanks to W. E. Spangle for a copy of the August 20th issue of the Knoxville, Tenn., News-Sentinel. Its magazine section has a story about the old and new combined in reconstruction of the

Continued on Back Page

LETTER FROM SWEDEN

People from over 20 countries have come to Tryon in recent years to make their home. Some are natives of the countries from which they came. Others are Americans who have lived in many parts of the world and finally decided that Tryon is the best place for them—best in uniformity of climate, altitude and quality of citizenship. Miss Anna Riis, a native of Norway, an artist in leathercraft, is one of those who has made her home in Tryon. She received an interesting letter recently from her nephew, Theodore Roscher, who is now in Sweden. It is interesting to note the reactions of a citizen of an occupied country living in a neutral nation. On August 18, he wrote: "In the way of meat, butter and sugar we have been very fortunate here. Where we are hard put is coffee, tea, rice, spices, cocoa, etc. I sent some spices to my father and he was delighted. I do my best to get together what he wants, but my best is not always good enough. One thing to get it, another thing to get it away to him. Restrictions, export prohibited, etc., etc. All these nuisances of red tape we are subjected to!—But now we are looking forward to peace within a couple of months, at the utmost by the end of October! That is, peace here in Europe. The Americans are certainly putting up a wonderful show. We always seem to see what the Americans are doing, and doing fast too! Oh, we have a lot to be thankful to you for! You certainly have saved us, you and the other big fellows. What could we small nations do. We have a good report on the

Continued on Back Page